AERO MEET WANTED

Planned in Connection with Home-coming Week.

CONFERENCE ON FOR TO-DAY

Chairman Gans, of Chamber of Commerce Publicity Committee; Dr. Albert F. Zahn, and Charles J. Bell Will Present Detailed Plans for Making October Big Season Here.

On the results of a conference to be held to-day between Isaac Gans, chairman of the committee on publicity of the Chamber of Commerce, and Charles J. Bell and Dr. Albert F. Zahn, of the Washington Aero Club, will depend, it is believed, Washington's last chance to secure an aviation meet this year.

The conference is to be held at the request of Mr. Gans for the purpose of ascertaining whether it will be expedient to attempt to hold a three-day aviation meet during home-coming week, which is slated for the third week in October.

It was announced last night by Mr. Gans that he had looked into the matter sufficiently to discover that it will be possible to get several big aviators to Washington at that time.

With an aviation meet here a week before the international gathering, it will be possible to bring foreign as well as American aviators to the Capital City.

Cooperation Is Planned.

The plan will be for Mr. Bell to accept the chairmanship of an aviation committee to work in conjunction with the publicity committee, which is arranging for home-coming week.

It is believed that with the interest shown by Washingtonians in securing the international meet in October, it will not be impossible to make financial arrangements for the holding of a three-day meet, when it is expected there will be in the neighborhood of 20,000 visitors in Washington.

College Park is the most plausible site. Promoters of the Los Angeles meet last winter realized 25 per cent on the money subscribed to insure the success of the event.

If Washington can "break even," according to Mr. Gans, the publicity committee will be satisfied.

Charles J. Bell is one of the vice presidents of the Chamber of Commerce and a member of the board of directors.

Other Societies Indorse Idea.

The indorsement given home-coming week by the Federation of Citizens' Associations Saturday night has greatly encouraged the members of the committee arranging the event, who believe that it can be made to bring the largest crowd to Washington for the longest period that the Capital has ever entertained.

Chairman Gans has been notified by the Fossils, of New York, an organization of bankers, lawyers, business men, and newspaper men, that they will hold their next meeting in Washington during home-coming week.

Home-coming plans in detail will be laid before the members of the Chamber of Commerce to-morrow night.

Directors of the Chamber, the Federation of Citizens' Associations, the Central Labor Union, and other organizations have indorsed the plans as tentatively outlined.

DR. MAYDWELL SUCCUMBS

Secretary of Methodist Conference Long Capital Pastor.

In Charge of Waugh Church Eleven Years Before Call to Frothingham, Where He Died Yesterday.

Rev. Dr. George Edward Maydwell, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Frothingham and secretary of the Baltimore Conference, died yesterday, at the age of sixty years.

He had been ill two weeks of nervous breakdown, and while his condition had several times been considered critical, he brightened up so much yesterday that his physicians hoped for recovery.

Rev. Mr. Maydwell was pastor of the Frothingham church two years, going there from Waugh Church, Washington, D. C., where he served eleven years as pastor.

He also served his conference as secretary for sixteen years, being unanimously re-elected at the last annual session. He was born in Baltimore in November, 1850, and entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1870, when only nineteen years old. He spent forty years in the service of the church. His first charge was in Hartford County, Md.

He leaves a wife, two daughters, Misses Grace and Alice, of Frothingham, and one son, Charles W. Maydwell, of the legal department of the Maryland Casualty Company, Baltimore, all of whom were with him at the time of his death. He also leaves two brothers, Henry C. Maydwell, of Meriden, Conn., and Theodore F. Maydwell, of Baltimore.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon in Baltimore, with interment in Druid Ridge Cemetery. The funeral party will leave Frothingham at 7 o'clock Tuesday.

DR. EDWARD H. BARKER DEAD

Physician Stricken While Attending His Practice Saturday.

Graduate of Columbia College—One of Founders of Emergency Hospital—Was Prominent Mason.

Dr. Howard H. Barker died at his home, 1118 H street northwest, at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, after a brief illness of acute uremia. He attended his practice, as usual, Saturday and appeared to be in the best of health. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon he was taken ill.

He was sixty-two years old, and in his forty years' practice in this city became one of the most widely known men of his profession. He was born in this city September 13, 1848, and was the son of James W. and Sarah A. R. Barker.

Graduating from the academic department, he took a course in medicine at Columbian College, receiving his degree in 1874. Dr. Barker was one of the founders of Emergency Hospital, and was connected with that institution for several years. He also served at the Casualty and Sibley Memorial hospitals, and was formerly medical examiner for the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company.

In 1890 the National University conferred the degree of LL. D. upon Dr. Barker. From 1894 until it was merged with George Washington University Dr. Barker was dean of the medical and dental departments of Columbian College. He was connected with many national medical associations, and was a former president of the District Medical Association.

He was a prominent Mason and a member of Federal Lodge, Eureka Lodge, Washington Commandery, and Almas Temple of the Mystic Shrine. Dr. Barker was married in 1872 to Miss Fannie R. Wilson, daughter of Jesse D. Wilson, of this city. He is survived by a son, Dr. Howard Wilson Barker, who has been associated with him in his practice; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Barker Foster, a sister, Mrs. Ella Stockstill, and a granddaughter, Margaret Foster. Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

MARRIAGE MISHAPS

Misfortune for Woman to Err, Says Rev. Dr. Shannon.

PARENTS' COUNSEL IS NEEDED

Pastor of Metropolitan Methodist Church Declares She Who Weds Upon Basis Other Than Love Wakes Up to Find Herself Housekeeper and Not Wife—Promise Not Kept.

"True marriage is the closest of earthly unions. When husband and wife are matched and mated, their natures blend as do the dewdrops on the blossom of the flower," declared Rev. Dr. John H. Shannon, in a sermon, "Marriage not the end of woman's life; the young woman at the altar," at Metropolitan Methodist Church last night. He said, in part: "The love of man for woman and the love of woman for man—this is as old as the breath of the world's first morning, and yet as new as the rose that has just opened its leaves. This divine passion keeps the world fresh and young. It is a greater misfortune for a young woman to make a mistake in her marriage than for a young man; for a woman lives more in her affections than does a man.

"When it comes to engagement and marriage, a young woman should be in confidential relations with her parents. She should listen to the voice of their counsel as well as to the voice of romance. If she does not, as a rule, she makes a heritage of woe. As a rule, the white angels of God's benedictions spread their wings over the young woman who, when she stands at the marriage altar, has the smiles and approval of her parents.

Becomes Housekeeper.

"The woman who marries upon a basis other than love wakes up to find herself a housekeeper, not a wife; a loveless marriage is bondage. The supremest folly in all the world is that of which a woman is guilty who marries a man for what he has, rather than for what he is. She sells herself in the matrimonial market as truly as ever slaves were sold in our Southern land.

"In the deepest depths of our heart we pity the young woman, who, in the experience of her young womanhood, is made the victim of a marriage arrangement in the interests of money or in the interests of a foreign tie! Sooner or later she finds the orange blossoms of her marriage altar blasted by the cold frosts of domestic wretchedness.

"A religious woman should not marry a man who has no reverence for the church and the Bible. Moral sensibility cannot be happy with moral hardness. Even love is not a vine to be let alone, to clamber, as it pleases, over stones or upon tangled shrubs or around the rotten trunk of some tree.

Promise Not Kept.

"However much she may love him, no young woman should marry a man of dissipated habits. He may promise reformation; but not once in a thousand times does such a man keep his promise. A young man addicted to strong drink proposed to a young woman, and said to her: 'If you will marry me, I'll reform; you are the only power on earth that can save me from a drunkard's grave.' The young woman wisely replied: 'I am not running a Keeley cure.'

"A young woman should qualify herself to earn her own support, then she need never entertain the mercenary idea of marrying in order to have some one support her. Then she can look the stupendous question of marriage in the face and say: 'I'll not marry unless I can find the man that I can look up to and respect and love.'

Universal Marriage Impossible.

"Universal marriage is impossible, because of the unequal distribution of men and women. Massachusetts has 80,000 more women than men. England has 1,000,000 more women than men. Statistics show that far more girls are born into the world than boys.

"In the human sisterhood some of the sweetest and most heroic women stand alone in life. The Bible says: 'It is not good for man to be alone.' Nowhere does the Bible say that of woman. To say that woman is destined to find in man her end and aim is a pagan conception of woman. We repudiate the doctrine that marriage is the one prize in a woman's life, which, if missed, makes her life maimed and broken and in any sense a failure. Woman is created for God and for herself; the end of her life is sweet, pure, Christian womanhood. That is the grandest of womanly existence, that is the divinest thing under the stars, that is woman's destiny. Wifehood and motherhood may be denied her, but her destiny remains unforfeited."

Mellon Monument Unveiled.

A monument to the memory of Sovereign Charles B. Mellon was unveiled yesterday afternoon at Mount Olivet Cemetery by Elm Camp, No. 8, Woodmen of the World. The ritual was in charge of Sovereign E. B. Lewis, of North Carolina, and officers of the local camp. The oration was delivered by Representative Morris Sheppard, of Texas.

Rites for Mrs. Julia Chadwick.

The body of Mrs. Julia Halstead Chadwick was taken to New York last night for interment, following funeral services held at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from her home, 2025 Q street northwest. Mrs. Chadwick was the daughter of Oliver Spencer Halstead, first chancellor of New Jersey. She was seventy-nine years old.

Funeral of Mrs. Shugrue.

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Shugrue, widow of James B. Shugrue, was held at 9 o'clock yesterday morning from the Lady of Victory Church, Conduit road. Rev. M. F. Yingling officiating. She was born in County Kerry, Ireland, eighty-four years ago.

Will Give Organ Recital.

At Luther Place Memorial Church this evening William Wall Whiddit, organist at the First Congregational Church, will give a recital. He will be assisted by Miss Edith Stowell, soprano, and Arthur Delbert Bass. The recital will be under the auspices of the Luther Place Chapter of the Federal Council of Lutheran Brotherhoods.

Woman Delegate Departs.

Mrs. Lydia Adams-Williams, recording secretary of the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs and delegate to the biennial meeting of the General Federation at Cincinnati, leaves this afternoon to attend the convention.

REV. ZED COPP HAS A WAY.

Suggests First "Jubilee" in 1925 to Defeat the Trusts.

Rev. Zed H. Copp, in his sermon to the Central Labor Union of the District, at Bethany Chapel last night suggested several startling propositions for the "Redistribution of wealth," his topic.

Chief among the suggestions was the revival of the ancient year of jubilee to be held every twenty-five years. An amendment to the Constitution, setting 1925 as the first jubilee year, was suggested by the speaker, who said this plan would defeat the trusts and insure to all an equal share in the earth.

The constitutional amendment should carry a clause, Rev. Mr. Copp argued, requiring the release, every ten years, of all debts and sales of personal property caused by misfortune.

AGED CLAGETT DIES

Eighth of Noted Maryland Family Paralytic Victim.

HOME IN UPPER MARLBORO

Beautiful "Keokuk" Estate Named After Bride of Keokuk, Iowa, with Whom He Celebrated Golden Wedding Five Years Ago—Funeral of Thomas Clagett Held To-morrow.

Thomas Clagett, a native of Prince George County and a prominent member of the well-known Clagett family of Southern Maryland, died yesterday morning at 6 o'clock at his home, "Keokuk," in Upper Marlboro, Md. He was seventy-six years old. Death was due to a paralytic shock of last Wednesday.

The funeral will be held to-morrow morning at 11:30 o'clock from the Episcopal Church, in Upper Marlboro.

Thomas Clagett was born September 21, 1834, at Weston, Prince George County, Md., and was the oldest son of Judge Thomas Clagett, Weston is a part of the grant by Lord Baltimore to Thomas Clagett, and has been the homestead of the family for more than 200 years.

Was Eighth Descendant.

Mr. Clagett was the eighth lineal descendant of the first Thomas Clagett who owned Weston. He removed to Keokuk, Iowa, with his brother in 1859, and five years later was married to Miss Elizabeth Sophia Eicher, of that town.

Inheriting an estate in Upper Marlboro on the death of his grandfather, Thomas Clagett removed East again and settled at the homestead, which he named "Keokuk." As there were several Thomas Clagetts in the neighborhood, he adopted as his distinctive signature "Thomas Clagett, of Iowa." He was a brother of the late William H. Clagett, who was a Representative from Montana, and who later was elected Senator from Idaho.

Golden Wedding Long Past.

Mr. and Mrs. Clagett celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at "Keokuk" five years ago.

Of their eleven children, ten survive—Thomas Clagett, of Idaho; Miss Susan Clagett and Messrs. Gingsor Clagett and George M. Clagett, of "Keokuk"; Mrs. W. W. Bowie, Mrs. C. M. Clark, Charles W. Clagett, esq., a prominent lawyer, and Mr. Rodger D. Clagett, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Lavinia Clagett and Mrs. Sarah C. Clagett, of New York City.
